

ERDEMİR MADENCİLİK SAN. VE TİC. A.Ş.

Use of Cookies within the Scope of the Law on Protection of Personal Data Disclosure Policy

1. Definition of Cookies

Cookies are small units of data temporarily stored on your computer and mobile device by your browser. Cookies do not contain personal information about you and are not used to identify individual users. Cookies usually have a unique identifier, which is an anonymous number stored on your device. Some end when your website session is over, while others remain on your computer for a long time.

2. Purpose of Using Cookies

We use cookies to maximize your user experience during your visit to our website (www.erdemirmaden.com.tr), to develop a website that users can access comfortably, to monitor our own performance, to ensure security and privacy during your visit to our website.

Types of Cookies

Cookies are divided in to two types; "Permanent Cookies" and "Temporary Cookies"

i. Permanent Cookies, shall be formed in your first visit to web site and shall stay in your device during the expiration date of the cookie or be deleted by you. They are reactivated every time you visit the website on your device.

ii. Temporary cookies are known as "session cookies". Temporary cookies are valid during the "browser session". The browser session starts the moment you open your internet browser window and ends when you close your browser window. When you close your browser, all temporary cookies are deleted.

Cookies can also be "first party cookies" or "third party cookies".

First party cookies are cookies designed and used directly by our company.

Third party cookies are used by our Company's business partners, service providers, etc. These are cookies belonging to and managed by third parties.

Cookies, according to their functions; are divided into four basic groups: "strictly necessary cookies", "performance cookies", "functionality cookies" and "advertising / targeting cookies".

Strictly necessary cookies are necessary for identification and security purposes. These types of cookies do not collect information for marketing activities or to remember where you are on the internet.

Performance cookies collect anonymous data for statistical purposes in order to identify how users use the website, they are used to improve your user experience during your visit to our website, but do not contain personal data. Without these cookies, we will not be able to learn how our website is performing and make the necessary corrections to give you a better user experience.

Functionality cookies allow the website to be tailored to your needs and preferences, and to remember your preferences. These cookies are used to provide user information, language and location preferences and other personal services. The information collected by these cookies does not allow you to track your activities on other websites. Without these cookies, the website cannot remember your previous preferences and cannot provide you with a personalized experience.

Advertising / targeting cookies collect information about your browsing habits, remember that you have visited a website, and share this information with other institutions and organizations. In this way, it ensures that the ads of your interest reach you. Although these cookies can track your visits to other websites, they generally cannot identify who you really are because the data collected is not linked to your profile. Without these cookies, you will encounter less content that is of interest to you and your interests. Advertising and targeting cookies are not used on our company's website.

3. Managing and Disabling Cookies

Internet browsers are generally set to allow the use of cookies automatically. You can limit, block, delete cookies or set them to be alerted when cookies are being sent to your device through the settings of your internet browser. Different methods may be used for different internet browsers, you can learn more about this from the "Help" section of your internet browser.

If you are accessing our company's website via different devices, you need to make sure that the "cookie settings" of your internet browser for each device are arranged in accordance with your preferences. If you block one or more categories of cookies, we may continue to collect information with existing cookies, but the use of blocked cookies will cease immediately.

In any case, if you want to remove cookies that are stored on your computer and require your permission in the future, you can do this by using the tools provided for this purpose by the web browser.
